Hello!

Many administrators and teachers have requested support in providing high quality instructional and assessment materials for their English Learners. We are hosting our 5th annual Publisher's Fair to address this need.

On March 14, 2012 from 9:00 am to 3:30 pm, representatives from publishers of high quality ESL/ELL K-12 instructional and assessment materials for English and content development are coming to the Collaborative for Educational Services.

This is a great opportunity to meet with representatives and preview materials. The companies that will be attending include Hampton-Brown, Heinle, National Geographic, Pearson-Longman and more!

We are also excited to announce that Ken Pransky's new graphic thesaurus, My Fantastic Words Book, a Collaborative publication, will be at the Fair!

You and representatives from your district are most welcome to attend. This is a Center for English Language Education community service event. I will be attending and am happy to help support you with your instructional material needs.

Please let us know, by March 9, if you and others from your district will be attending and whether you will attend in the morning or afternoon. Your response will greatly help us in the success of this event. You may respond in three ways: (1) using the form on the next page, (2) emailing Blake Spitz, Administrative Assistant at bspitz@collaborative.org, or (3) calling Blake at 413.586.4900 x 181.

Directions to the Collaborative are available at cele.collaborative.org/directions.

Please feel free to forward this invitation on to others! We look forward to seeing you!

Sincerely,

Debbie Zacarian
